Situated just above the Camel Estuary in the tranquility of the pretty hamlet of Tregonce, within a short drive of both picturesque Padstow and bustling Wadebridge is this thoughtfully converted & exquisitely presented three double bedroom detached barn conversion. Tredougan House, which dates back over 100 years and was originally the cowshed for the neighbouring farmhouse, was converted in 1998 into the substantial home it is today.

The property successfully combines original character with contemporary fixtures and fittings to create a hugely welcoming ambience in a reverse living style that maximises the views across the Camel Estuary, the iron bridge to Padstow. Within approximately 0.5 miles is direct access to the Camel Trail that in turn leads all the way to Padstow itself.

The combined first floor kitchen, dining and family room has everything you would expect of a property of this quality – a sleek white gloss modern kitchen fully fitted with a range of integral appliances, space enough for a large dining table seating eight and comfortable lounge area for sofas and occasional furniture. The separate utility room/entrance lobby has a stable door entrance, space and plumbing for a washer/dryer and a cloakroom with WC.

Moving along to the large and light sitting room, you are immediately drawn to the floor to ceiling bi-fold doors with Juliette balcony from which far reaching views can be savoured towards the Camel Estuary and Padstow. There is plenty of space for sofas and occasional furniture which makes for a very comfortable living space.

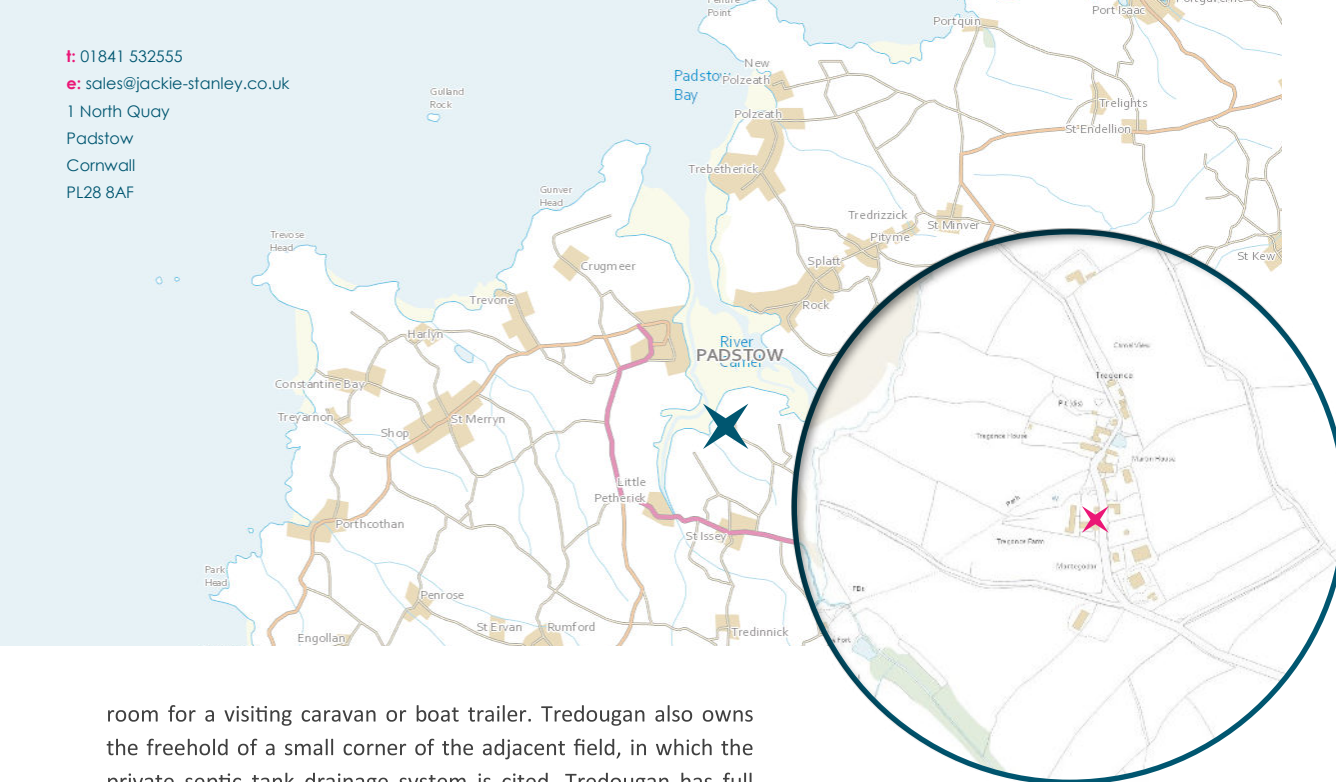

Descending to the ground floor, the central hallway is an impressive and inviting entrance way. Head into the spacious master bedroom with a great view over the garden, built in storage and newly fitted contemporary en-suite shower room with heated floor, towel rail and crisp white sanitary ware. Both the second and third bedrooms are genuine doubles with built in storage while the ground floor accommodation is complete with a newly fitted contemporary family bathroom incorporating underfloor heating, towel rail, separate bath and shower and crisp white sanitary ware.

The garden at Tredougan is small but beautiful, sheltered and private. It comprises separate areas of lawn and decking with a hot outside shower and space for outdoor furniture.
